

2021 Charitable Foundation Report

While the past year was filled with uncertainty for many in our communities, I am proud to say that Centreville Bank and the Centreville Bank Charitable Foundation were more active than ever in responding to local needs and also able to increase our support in some new and significant ways.

The year 2021 saw us continue to foster partnerships with like-minded organizations to better understand and address the evolving needs not only of the local population but the needs of non-profits, as well. From helping keep food pantries stocked with essentials for those in need to capacity building investments in technology to ensure non-profit organizations can continue operating in a changed environment, we recognize the need to be responsive and work to provide support where it's most needed.

In total, Centreville Bank and Centreville Bank Charitable Foundation were able to provide $1.3 million in grants and community support throughout 2021, setting yet another record for the highest ever annual total in the organization's history.

We recognize that our work is far from over, but remain optimistic that by working together with our outstanding community partners in 2022 we can continue to make a difference in the lives of those in need and lead the way in making our community a better place to live for all.

Sincerely,

Harold M. Horvat
President & CEO

ECONOMIC SECURITY SPOTLIGHT

Pawtucket Central Falls Development Corporation

It takes more than housing to build and sustain strong neighborhoods

Rhode Island continues to suffer from a shortage of affordable housing stock and, for many local residents, obtaining an affordable place to live is out of reach. The Centreville Bank Charitable Foundation has been proud to partner with Pawtucket Central Fall Development Corporation (PCFD) an organization that is focused on helping to change that.

By investing more than $40 million into the local community, PCFD has created high-quality affordable rental housing, new homeownership units, new pocket parks, all in communities that have a history of neglect and disinvestment.

The Centreville Bank Charitable Foundation provided a grant in support of PCFD's First Time Home Buyer Program to equip first time homebuyers with the resources and skills needed to save for and acquire their first home. Additionally, we were also able to finance the construction of several affordable housing units to help ensure that participants have options available to them when they are ready to take the next step to homeownership.

Centreville Bank has also partnered with PCFD to teach meaningful and culturally relevant financial literacy classes in Central Falls, where 60% of the population is Latino, but only 20% of families own their home. This pilot project, 'Decide Tu Futuro', will include financial empowerment classes taught exclusively in Spanish that focus on equity, housing stability, and financial fitness, while providing BIPOC families with the tools and knowledge needed to buy their first home.

EDUCATION SUCCESS SPOTLIGHT

TEEG (Thompson Ecumenical Empowerment Group)

Since its inception in 1988 TEEG (Thompson Ecumenical Empowerment Group) has been working to meet the needs of low-income individuals and families in Northeast Connecticut. The organization has established itself as a vital resource to the community offering basic needs programs which include food assistance, heating assistance, homelessness support, summer camp scholarships and client coordination to name a few.

One of TEEG's newest programs is their Attendance Mentoring Program, which was developed in 2020, to assist the Thompson Public Schools reduce absenteeism. Funding from the Centreville Bank Charitable Foundation is helping to expand the program to serve students in the towns of Putnam, Pomfret, Woodstock and Thompson.

The program supports children from pre-school through grade 12. As students exceed the allowable amount of time out of school, TEEG staff works with the youth and their families to identify the level of support that would address the need. This newly created program soon proved to be critical as the pandemic forced schools to shut down in-person learning. The organization pivoted quickly to modify plans for remote and hybrid support to mitigate the impact of the pandemic on school attendance.

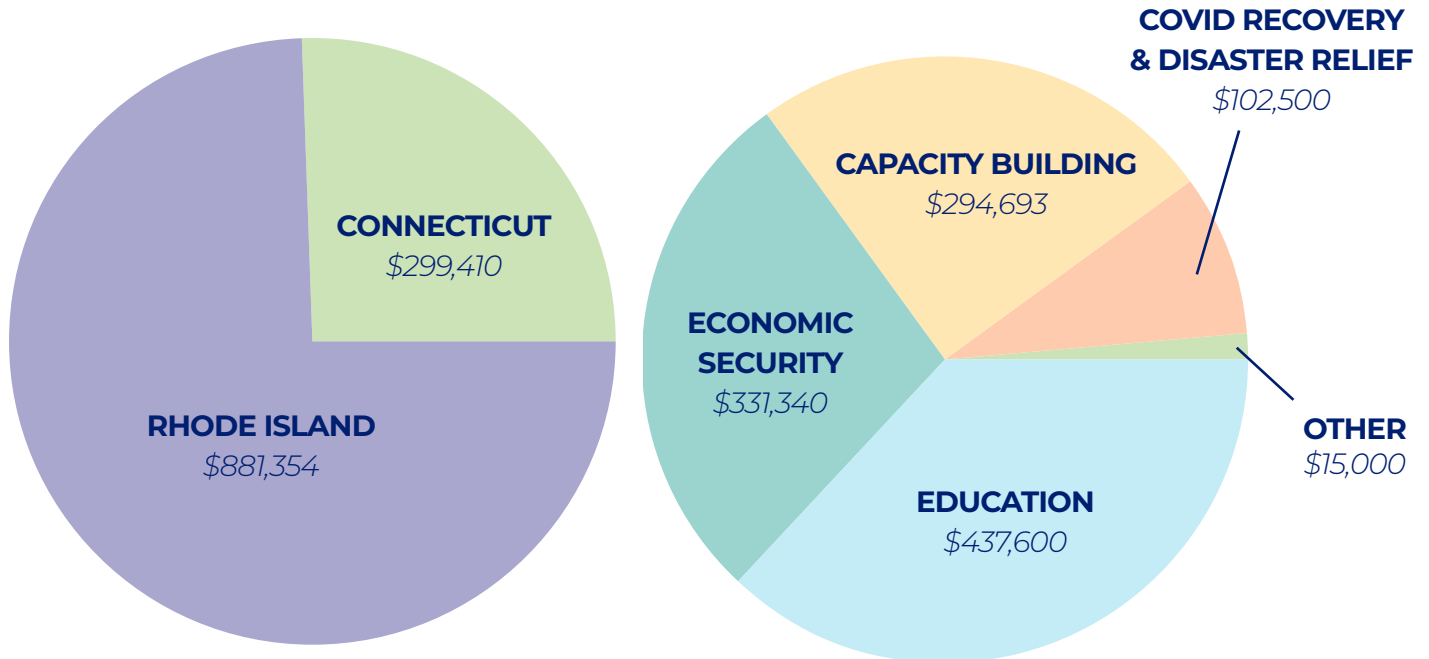

Centreville Bank and the Centreville Bank Charitable Foundation are proud to partner with TEEG as they lead the way in connecting and supporting children in school reach their potential, and by providing the tools they need to become tomorrow's community leaders.

at-risk youth engaged
